Advising Letter Department of Philosophy, Religion, and Classical Studies Spring 2018 Registration for Fall 2018 Term

Dear students,

As you know, registration for the spring term starts Tuesday, April 3, 2018 and ends Friday, April 13, 2018. The purpose of this letter is to underline some important things to bear in as you are finalizing your course selection.

 This is the ideal time to make an appointment to see your faculty advisor in philosophy. Email works well for purposes of making that appointment. Or you can phone or just drop by during office hours. Our full contact information is listed here: http://philos.pages.tcnj.edu/faculty/

If you are unsure who your advisor is, you can check your PAWS account. Or you can contact Cecilia Colbeth – 609.771.2539 or colbeth@tcnj.edu. Ms. Colbeth can also let you know your advisor's office hours.

- 2. Make sure you are acquainted with PAWS. The "what if" reports (under "advising tools") can be particularly useful. If you need any help with the system, please contact your advisor directly.
- 3. The Mini-Catalog lets you know just what courses our department will offer this coming spring and gives you some detailed information about those courses. It can be found at the end of this letter and at http://philos.pages.tcnj.edu/. Please do not hesitate to contact the instructor if you have any questions or need additional information about any course.
- 4. The last page of Mini-Catalog consists of a table summing up the requirements for the philosophy major as well as for the specializations in Ethics and in Law and Philosophy and for our programs in religion and classical studies. This would be a good time to review those requirements against what you have already accomplished to see what you need to do next.

To help as well, please see p. 3 below for an "idealized" sequence of courses for the philosophy major.

5. If you have already taken PHL 120/Introduction to Logic but no other course in philosophy, do keep in mind that you might want to take another 100-level course before you tackle our upper-level courses. Seats in both PHL 135/Contemporary Moral Issues and in PHL 100/Introduction to Philosophy should remain available for first and second year students throughout registration period. Similarly, if you've already taken PHL 100 or 135, it might be time to do PHL 120. Again, seats should remain available for first and second year students. Please do let me know if you face any obstacle there. These courses are described in the Mini-Catalog.

- 6. For those majors and minors who have already done some work in philosophy, our schedule features quite a number of interesting courses. It includes PHL 201/Ancient Philosophy (required for the major), PHL 246/Aesthetics, PHL 270/Special Topics: Continental Philosophy, and PHL 275 Philosophy of Law (all count as philosophy electives). Also please note PHL 350/Ethical Theory (counts towards a major requirement) and PHL 330/Mind-Body Connections and PHL 421/Philosophy of Language (both count as philosophy electives at the 300- or 400-level). Again, please do not hesitate to contact the instructors directly for further information.
- 7. Especially for juniors .... You should take special care that you are on target for completing your senior capstone requirements. The one-unit Senior Project is usually completed during the spring term of the senior year but depending on the student's individual situation can be completed during the fall term instead. The two-unit Senior Thesis is typically completed over both terms of the senior year (the Senior Thesis Research in the fall and the Senior Thesis in the spring). Whether you are on the usual schedule or not, around the time of registration the term before you are ready to begin the capstone that is, now, if you plan to start the capstone this coming fall term -- you should do the following: (A) identify the faculty member you would like to complete your senior capstone with; (B) contact that person to set up a meeting; (C) try to agree on an area of common research interest and on whether your aim should be a senior project or a senior thesis; and (D) enroll in the appropriate component of the capstone with that faculty member. That person will henceforth serve as your project or thesis advisor. And, between now and the time when you actually begin the capstone work, keep in close contact with that advisor so that any necessary preliminary groundwork can be accomplished.
- 8. Especially for seniors .... We are so excited and happy for you yet so hate to see you go! If you haven't yet arranged for a job or a seat in law school or graduate school or other program, please keep clearly in mind once you leave us that we will always be here to support you – to continue to serve as your advisors and to write letters of recommendation on your behalf and for anything else you may need. Your rights to our services and our enthusiasm for providing them do not end at graduation; they are yours for life. Please just let us know what happens next; please stay in touch.

With best wishes,

Melinda Roberts Chair of Department of Philosophy, Religion and Classical Studies 609.771.2360 robertsm@tcnj.edu

Translation of natural language statements and arguments and analysis and evaluation of deductive arguments through the construction of proofs. Focus particularly on the power and precision of the natural language with the aim of helping students increase their ability to think and write with creativity, precision and rigor. (This course is recommended for pre-law students and satisfies a requirement for the Law and Society Interdisciplinary Concentration and for the Law, Politics and Philosophy Interdisciplinary minor.) (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Writing Intensive)

PHL 135/Contemporary Moral Issues	Sec.01 (80785) Howarth 2:00 – 3:20 PM MR
	.02 (80786) Howarth 3:30 – 4:50 PM MR
	.03 (80789) Conley 9:30 – 10:50 AM TF
	.04 (82400) Conley 11:00 – 12:20 PM TF

This course provides an introduction to ethics, one of the main branches of philosophy. It aims to familiarize students with basic concepts and theories in ethics, and with how they may be applied to a range of contemporary moral issues. Topics addressed may include racism, sexism, abortion, euthanasia, cloning, capital punishment, our obligations to the disadvantaged, the treatment of non-human animals, just war, and the like. Students will be encouraged to learn from great thinkers of the past and of the present, to examine their own moral values and beliefs, and to take reasoned and informed stands on the issues treated. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 205/History of Ancient Philosophy

Sec.01 (80796) TBA

Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of instructor

This is a survey course on Plato and Aristotle. In order to place these two philosophers within their historical context, we shall begin by exploring the thought of the Pre-Socratic Philosophers (Parmenides, Zeno, Anaxagoras and Democritus) and the Sophists (Gorgias and Protagoras). The focus of the course shall be on epistemology, metaphysics and psychology. For Plato, we shall read two or three of the early dialogues (including the Euthyphro), both the Meno and the Phaedo, and parts of the Republic. We shall also look at Plato's own criticism of the theory of the Forms in the Parmenides. For Aristotle, we shall read some of the organon, including parts of the Categories and the Posterior Analytics. These works provide the basis for Aristotle's own rejection of the theory of Forms and they also introduce us to his conception of 'scientific knowledge'. We shall read substantial selections from three of Aristotle's more prominent works: the Nicomachean Ethics, the Physics, and On the Soul. (LL: World Views & Way of Knowing, Writing Intensive)

PHL 246/Aesthetics

Sec.01 (81960) Kamber 4:00 – 5:20 PM MR

Prerequisites: One course in philosophy or permission of instructor.

A course examining the principal issues and theories in the philosophy of art and beauty. Readings include works by philosophers of historical importance such as Plato and Aristotle as well as the writings of contemporary aestheticians. Consideration is also given to selected issues associated with particular arts such as meaning in music and the interpretation of poetry, and the cinematic in film. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 270/Topics in Philosophy: Continental Philosophy Sec.01 (81959) Haynes 9:30 – 10:50 AM TF Prerequisites: One course in philosophy or permission of instructor.

This course addresses key differences between the Analytical and Continental traditions of Western philosophy, briefly traces the background and "split" between the two, and introduces major concepts and thinkers in the Continental tradition. Readings will include essays by Jacques Derrida, Michel Foucault, Roland Barthes, Martin Heidegger, Walter Benjamin, and Jacques Lacan. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 275/Philosophy of Law

Sec.01 (82768) Sharadin 5:30 - 8:20 PM M

Prerequisite: One PHL course or permission of instructor

This course presents leading theories of the nature of law and the relation between human law and moral law, including classical natural law theory, positivism, formalism, legal realism, the "new naturalism" and legal skepticism. As taught this term, the course will focus on issues relating to knowledge and evidence as well as the morality of punishment. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 330/Mind Body Connections Sec.01 (81961) Haynes 11:00 - 12:20 PM TF Prerequisite - One REL or PHL Course or permission of instructor.

One of the major issues that both Western and Eastern philosophy tackle is the relationship of the mind to the body, and the inner perception of the world to the reality of what is or might be outside it. In both philosophies, the body is often devalued as a base and unreliable aspect of humanity, to be surpassed and dominated by the mind or spirit. In this course we will trace the history of this attitude at the same time as conducting our own experiment on the subject through the practices of yoga and meditation. (LL: World Views/Ways of Know; Global)

PHL 350/Ethical Theory

Sec.01 (82325) Taylor 12:30 - 1:50 PM MR Prerequisite – One 200-level Philosophy course or permission of instructor.

This course will address the major ethical traditions of deontology, consequentialism, and virtue ethics. Initially, we will focus on the historically influential views of Aristotle, Immanuel Kant and J.S. Mill. We will then engage the more contemporary discussion of these theories, drawing on the work of 20th century moral philosophers such as John Rawls, Shelly Kagan, Philippa Foot, Bernard Williams, Peter Singer, Virginia Held, and Susan Wolf, among others. We will conclude the course with a discussion of the issue of moral standing and will attempt to answer the question "What things are morally valuable?" (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 421/Philosophy of Language Sec.01 (81962) Preti 3:30 - 6:20 PM R Prerequisite: PHL 120 and two 200-level or higher philosophy courses or permission of instructor

The main aim of this course is to investigate traditional topics like meaning, propositional content, truth, and reference, as well as contemporary controversies that arise in the intersection between philosophy of language and cognitive science. The course is designed in a way that will answer the different needs of students with different backgrounds: students with little or no background in philosophy will get a streamlined introduction to the basics of philosophy of language through readings that will focus on an area of cognitive science that speaks to their particular interest. Students with a background in philosophy will get the opportunity to apply their current knowledge of philosophical analysis and argument to a set of issues in philosophy of language through classical and contemporary material in the field. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

PHL 494/Senior Project

Prerequisite: Senior status or junior status, and permission of instructor

A writing project prepared under the advisement of a member of the philosophy faculty. Students must complete a carefully researched and written, in-depth work in philosophy on a topic of significance in philosophy, selected by the student in consultation with faculty and written under the close supervision of a faculty member who serves as advisor.

PHL 495/Senior Thesis Research

Prerequisite: Senior standing as a philosophy major and permission of instructor

Independent research under the guidance of a full-time faculty member on a mutually agreed-on topic. Students will be expected to define a topic suitable for a capstone thesis, conduct a series of appropriate literature reviews, and develop a writing plan.

PHL 496/Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: PHL 495 and permission of instructor

A substantial writing project prepared under the advisement of a member of the philosophy faculty. Students must complete a carefully researched and written, in-depth work in philosophy on a topic of significance in philosophy, selected by the student in consultation with faculty and written under the close supervision of a faculty adviser.

RELIGION COURSES

REL 111/Buddhism & Buddhist Thought

Sec.01 (80942) Thomas 9:30 – 10:50 AM MR

This course will study the historical and philosophical development of Buddhism from its origin in India to its modern day practice in Japan and Tibet. It will explore the essential teachings and practice of Buddhism both in its early and modern form found in India, Sri Lanka, China, Japan and Tibet. It will examine both primary texts from various Buddhist traditions and secondary materials in order to gain a better appreciation for this religious tradition which has survived in Asia for centuries and is gaining popularity in the West in recent times.

(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Global)

REL 113/Islam and Islamic Thought

Sec.01 (80940) Thomas 11:00 - 12:50 PM MR

Course examining Islam and some of the intellectual traditions that have flourished in conjunction with it. Students will study the historical origins and essential teachings of this religion and explore some of the literary and philosophical traditions that developed from or in close connection with Islam.

(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing; Global)

REL 120/Early Judaism

Sec.01 (80937) Greenbaum 11:00 - 12:20 PM MR

This course will cover the development of Jewish history and religious life from the Biblical through the medieval periods. Particular attention will be paid to literary sources, the historical development of ideas, and Jewish ritual cycles. We will, for example, examine the development of the celebration and meaning of Jewish festivals, life cycle events and practices. Also probed will be the growth of Jewish law and understanding of Scriptures. There is no requirement for any previous understanding of Judaism—all students are encouraged to enroll.

(LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

REL 170/Special Topic: Mental Wellness in Jewish Thought Sec.01 80939() Greenbaum 12:30 – 1:50 PM MR

The pursuit of mental wellness has been part of life since the dawn of time. In this course we will explore ancient and modern Jewish teachings to understand the human psyche and how it best functions. The course will include ancient meditative techniques, a dissection of the human personality, and the minds connection to the broader universe. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

REL 170/Special Topics: Introduction to the Bible	Sec. 02 (80941) Rech 8:00 – 9:20 AM TF

The sacred texts, collectively known as the Bible, have the greatest reach of any other form of Western literature. In this course, we will apply Biblical academic study to the literature of the books that comprise various bibles, Biblical history in Western society, the development of various biblical canons, the use of these sacred texts in history, and the technological developments that have affected the understanding of Bibles. This examination will lead to a better understanding of Bibles and how they function in our literary, political, and religious lives. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)

REL 320/Holocaust: Historical & Religious Persp.

Sec.01 (80938) Rech 9:30-10:50 AM TF

This course will provide a background to the actual events and an introduction to the historiographic, philosophical and religious dimensions of the Holocaust. The main focus of the course will be interpreting the causes, events, and lessons in light of the historical, philosophical, and religious perspectives. This course will lead students to a fuller understanding of the Holocaust and its effect on contemporary religious and philosophical life. (LL: World Views & Ways of Knowing)
